MR. JAMES A. CONROY

In affectionate gratitude for his self-sacrifice and tireless devotion to our welfare, the Class of 1940 dedicates this yearbook to Mr. James A. Conroy, our class adviser.

Foreword

Our title, The Snickersnee, was suggested by the appearance of that dread weapon in our operatic venture, The Mikado—it has no connection with the discipline at Pittsfield High School, where the Class of '40 has spent so many happy days. We hope that in these pages our readers will find a record of the hours both grave and gay which have been passed within the walls of our beloved school.

We Encounter Authority

MR. ROY M. STROUT, Principal

With kindness, efficiency, and constant good judgment, he has guided us along a path beset with obstacles to this day of gratifying success.

"Behold the Lord High Executioner!
A personage of noble rank and title,
A dignified and potent officer
Whose functions are particularly vital."

MISS NELLIE J. PARKER, Dean of Girls

One who has always been a gracious guide and a wise mentor.

"As some day it may happen that a victim must be found,
I've got at little list — I've got a little list
Of society offenders who might well be under ground."

MR. ARTHUR GOODWIN, Vice-Principal

His generous and ever-ready counsel has been for us a never failing source of encouragement and inspiration.

"From every kind of man Obedience I expect."

MR. JOHN MORAN, Vice-Principal
A philosopher-teacher whose insight and understanding of human nature have helped us solve many a perplexing problem.

"My object all sublime
I shall achieve in time
To let the punishment fit the crime
The punishment fit the crime."

Alma Mater Song

Words by Esther Kierstead '38 and Friend Kierstead, Jr. '39

Tune: "All Through The Night"

Guardian elm trees cast their shadows

O'er thy ivied walls;

Sons and daughters ever loyal

Throng thy honored halls.

Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,

Alma Mater dear,

Help us to preserve thy honor

Through each coming year.

Great has been thy former record,

Greater will it be

As the future generations

Sing their praise to thee.

Proud are we who through thy portals

Into life do pass;

Help us ever to be worthy,

Each and every class.

Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,

Alma Mater dear,

Help us to preserve thy honor

Through each coming year.

How Much Security Is Enough

Maplewood Prize Essay

Written by Barbara E. Myers

"Security is mortals' chiefest enemy," croaked Hecate, plotting the downfall of Macbeth. The old witch had reasoned rightly, too, for Macbeth's feeling of false security was to cause him to forget that he must ever be on guard lest his dearest treasure, his power, be taken from him; and consequently he lost that power. Yet people everywhere in our country today are seeking security, even demanding it, from the government, forgetting always that with that security they may lose their most prized possession, their liberty; that freedom may slip away while they devote themselves to the search for security. Liberty and security walk different roads and lead to opposite goals. As our security increases, accordingly will our liberty decrease.

From the seventeenth to middle nineteenth century, freedom, not security was the keynote of American life. The Pilgrims left the security of their homes and hearths in England, seeking greater freedom; and when they touched the shores of New England, they brought more to America than ships and supplies and men. They brought an ideal — an ideal of freedom. America grew and flourished in that ideal. In 1775 an ill-trained group of soldiers fought for it, daring the strength and might of England, risking their positions, their homes, their lives, for their liberty. America became a country of freedom—freedom of the press, of speech, of endeavour. In America a man was free to try and fail, as well as to succeed. Americans believed it was the right and duty of every man to shape his life for himself. In 1838, in the midst of a growing movement westward, the editor of the New York Sun remarked, "Boys and men are educated in the belief that every man must be the architect of his own fortune."

The true American neither sought, nor desired, security. As Kipling wrote of him,

"He greets th' embarrassed Gods, nor fears
To shake the iron hand of Fate
Or match with Destiny for beers."

Immediately after the Revolutionary War, the United States was torn by a period of turbulence and agitation. It was a time of economic, political, and social instability, which affected all classes, rich and poor. Only one group remained unshaken by the tumult of the nation. The slaves, "submerged," as James Truslow Adams says, "at the bottom of society," were undisturbed and uninterested in the state of the nation. They were secure, working, sleeping, eating, as their masters commanded. When Lincoln freed the slaves by the Emancipation Proclamation, they were indecisive, unreliable, bewildered by their liberty. Security had weakened them, made them dependent, unable to think and work for themselves. It took many years for the slaves to comprehend and appreciate their freedom fully, so far had they walked along the diverse path of security.

In 1931, in the deepening depression, there was a widespread cry for more security. Matthew Woll, acting president of the National Civic Federation, echoed the thoughts of thousands when he issued a plea for permanent security for the nation. Charles Beard, in "America in Mid-Passage," notes, "That America must 'face the future' with rational plans for social security was a widespread conviction, the need for which was proclaimed in the pulpit, on the platform, in gatherings of 'experts', from business and professional forums, in conventions of the people, in the press." Due to such fervent national opinion, plans and laws for greater security went into effect. A policy of intervention by the government seemed to take the place of free enterprise. The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933 endeavoured to raise the price of "basic agricultural commodities" by diminishing production and controlling market operations. In 1936 Justice Roberts of the Supreme Court declared the law unconstitutional on the ground that it was the right of the state, not of Congress, to regulate agriculture in the state. In trying to give security, Congress had overstepped the Constitution, the protection of our democracy. In 1934 the Cotton Control Act limited the amount of production of cotton in order to help the hardpressed farmer. Both of these acts, in attempting to render the people more secure, had rendered the government more powerful. Each was a step toward greater security, less liberty.

Complete security can be granted only in a dictatorship. It can be gained through the interposition of the government in all fields of endeavour, and the removal of freedom of enterprise, both of which would destroy the very roots of democracy. The citizens of Russia, Italy, and Germany have far more economic security than the people of the United States. Yet George Counts points out, "Although the ultimate course of Fascism defies prediction, and although a regime of 'law and order' has been indubitably established, there is every reason for believing that Italian business men have been profoundly disillusioned and would give much to restore that freedom of enterprise which the Fascist State has destroyed." In demanding one's liberty, security asks too high a price.

Yet all men need some security. They should feel secure that in their country they will have the right to work and to succeed. Men must realize, however, the profound truth which Emerson advanced when he wrote, "No kernel of nourishing corn can come to him (man) but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given to him to till." A true American should "till" his opportunities; he should challenge the Fates, hoping for the success of his endeavour; and if he fails, with fearless optimism and unflinching perseverance he himself should rebuild his world, without demanding or desiring the interference of the government. Because the great men who did the most to shape our democracy believed in men's own efforts for success, they wrote into the Constitution that every man has the right to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Washington, Madison, and Adams guaranteed the right to pursue happiness, not to acquire it.

Security should not be a leading figure on the American stage. It is not in the American heritage, nor is it a part of the American dream, "the dream of a land in which life should be better and richer and fuller for every man, with opportunities for each, according to his ability or achievement." America is a young nation, and, like youth, should be brave and eager and daring. Let us preserve the American ideal of freedom, and let us fulfill the American dream by giving the opportunity to man, not the achievement.

"Sail, sail thy best, ship of Democracy,
Of value is thy freight, 'tis not the Present only,
The Past is also stored in thee....."

History of the Class of 1940

AN irretrievable loss was suffered by the junior high schools of Pittsfield one beautiful day in June, 1937, for it was at that time that the Class of '40 moved toward its new home, the "million-dollar" high school. But it was not until a marvelous ten-week vacation was succeeded by a delightfully cool, invigorating September that that memorable class of brilliant students, with radiance beaming from their faces, with chests swelled to the limit, with shoulders straightened — and with quaking hearts — marched up the wide staircase and entered the portals of Pittsfield High School. Immediately there was a tragic, amazing transformation. The former lords of the junior high school succumbed to the trembling in their hearts. Just a number of meek, insignificant sophies huddled together in that large auditorium, awaiting their instructions.

With watering mouths the hungry juniors and seniors had looked forward to this day. This was their day, and they immediately took advantage of their supposed superiority. They scoffed at the very apparent bewilderment of the newcomers. And when the trusting youngsters who made up the sophomore class asked the upperclassmen for directions, you can well imagine what happened.

However, as the noble juniors and wise seniors gradually came to realize and appreciate the abilities of our illustrious class — for, incredible as it may seem, this is a portrayal of our class — the scoffing and teasing ceased. With noticeable sighs of relief we settled down to enjoy the many opportunities that the school offered. Our activities were diversified indeed. Several of our classmates found room for themselves in the many athletic projects open to them. Others of us flocked to the Debating and Glee Clubs, the staff of "The Student's Pen", and the newly organized Motion Picture Club. No matter what our individual talents, we found that there were clubs and activities for everyone.

Time passed quickly, so quickly, indeed, that it was not long before the budding of trees and the twittering of birds heralded the coming of spring. "Spring fever" was upon us, and rare was the sophie who could shake off the inertia that benumbed his senses as the spring term slipped away. Thus, almost without the sops' realizing it, the days of June, 1938, became history. Suddenly it dawned upon us that no longer would we be associated with the lowly worm — not at all — now we would be the monarchs of all we surveyed (except seniors).

Elevated to dignified rank, the following autumn we returned to P. H. S. as juniors. Our most pressing and serious task was carried out when we elected class officers. John Grady was elected president. Robert Wood became first vice-president; Delores Dondi, second vice-president; Barbara Myers, secretary; and Mary Ann Carnevale, treasurer. At the same time, Mr. James A. Conroy was chosen class adviser. Soon after the election of officers we agreed upon monthly dues of twenty-five cents. No doubt it was our eagerness to cooperate which prompted us all (some of us, anyway) to pay those dues regularly.

At this time a very heated argument in the Debating Club kindled the spark of student self government in the school. There followed articles on the subject in both "The Student's Pen" and the local paper. Needless to say, the leaders of this idea are to be found in our ranks. As yet, however, student government has not passed beyond the "consideration" stage.

During the winter of 1938 and 1939 two clubs were formed which have since been exceedingly popular and active. To further their knowledge and enjoyment of the "king of hobbies", several of our number turned to the Stamp Club. Students with an interest in all phases of radio technique were invited to join the Radio Guild. Besides the organization of these clubs, two other very noteworthy events took place. One was the voluntary construction of a good hockey rink by boys interested in the sport. This was at once hailed as a laudable achievement and a remarkable credit to our school spirit. The other event was a contest sponsored by the school in search of an "Alma Mater Song." Over five hundred students entered the contest and submitted praiseworthy contributions. The job of the music department and the teachers chosen to judge the winners was far from easy. Although the winner, chosen after much deliberation, was a senior, the two entries next in line were composed by members of our class.

For several weeks previous to the well-remembered evening of May 20, 1939, it would have been difficult to convince a casual observer that we were not preparing for "Baby Day" but for the Junior Prom. As we had dedicated that gala occasion to the child-like sophomores, dolls, doll carriages, kiddy cars, and other toys were the theme of our Prom decorations. When the evening finally came, the affair was certainly a credit to all the Prom committees. The evening was not only successful; it was refreshingly unique and picturesque. The reaction of the sophs? They were thrilled when they feasted their eyes on the numerous toys. And perhaps even more interesting than the toys were the cleverly designed posters depicting many well-known nursery rhymes!

The Prom represented our class's greatest effort and crowning achievement in its junior year. It practically ushered us into the twelfth grade. And did we take advantage of our "ascendency" when we returned to school! We were no longer mere students; now we were seniors, and we demanded (of the other students only) that we be treated like the nobility of which we fancied ourselves members. The novelty was shortlived, however, and once again we resumed our studies in earnest. Our class activities began to function more normally. Almost unanimously we re-elected our class officers; various committees were chosen, and the ponderous wheels of the biggest event of our senior year slowly began to turn.

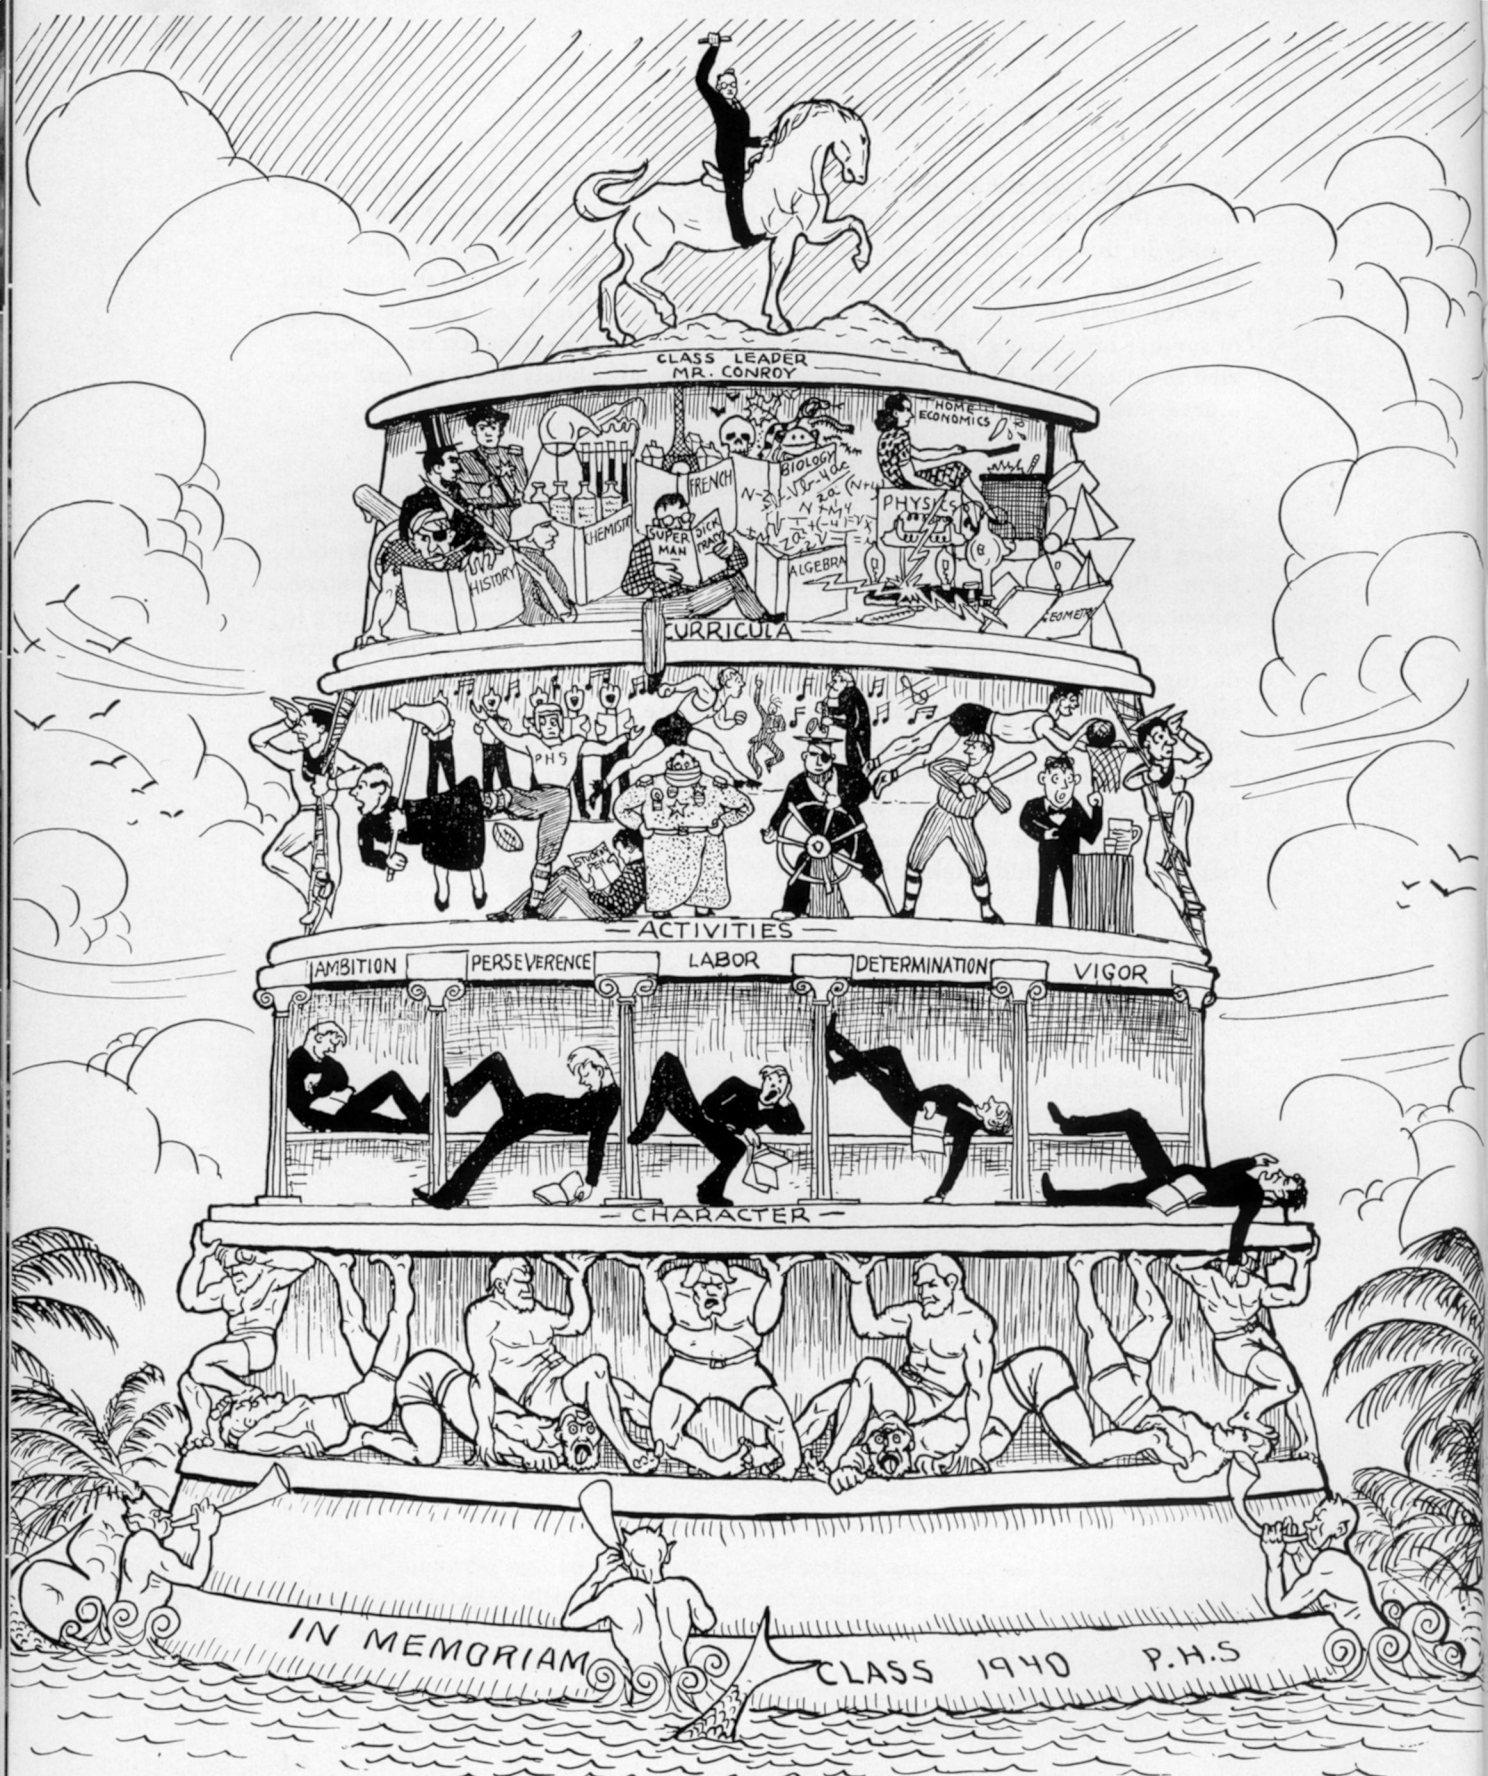

Our senior year was crowded with noteworthy events, and at least one of them is quite interesting in that it brought the European War and its effect upon world trade much closer to us than we might have anticipated. The company from which we bought our rings encountered considerable difficulty when it found that the blockade of Germany had efficiently closed the ports of that country, whence came the stones for our rings. The company was forced to turn to the very limited supply of stones which existed in this country. For a time, it appeared as though the concern would be unable to fulfill its orders; fortunately, however, the supply in this country was adequate. And again, with a wary glance at Europe where "ism's" were all the rage this year, it was not surprising to find that our class was definitely in style, sporting an "ism"—Foochism. In the fall a certain group of seniors introduced "Foochism" into our daily life. The Foochist Party originated in an aspiring history class, where it stood for absolutely nothing—and made a great fuss accomplishing just that.

In the meantime, under the very capable direction of our musical supervisor, Mr. F. Carl Gorman, the tryouts for "The Mikado" leads and the choruses were being held. As the wheels picked up momentum, the production rapidly took form. By the end of January all was in readiness for the first public performance. About one thousand people entered the auditorium that first evening, expecting to see an amateur performance. To their surprise, from the very first chords introducing the "Gentlemen of Japan" to the jubilation of the closing bars, the audience sat spellbound. The colorful costumes and stage setting, plus a first class performance that was rated as comparable to professional productions, drew a capacity audience the following evening. Public testimony and newspaper write-ups were both very generous with praise. Our operetta was a startling success. It will certainly be classed among the most successful of all productions ever staged by a Pittsfield High School class.

Our banquet, no doubt, will be just as successful as was the operetta. Following the banquet comes the most thrilling, the most momentous day of our twelve years of schooling — Graduation Day. For many of us that day will signify our first strides toward meeting life's inescapable challenge. Eventually we shall all have to meet it. We must be victorious! We shall not fail!

A MEMORIAL TO THE CLASS OF 1940

-DON, LUCIER

Our Last Will and Testament

KNOW ye that we, the Class of 1940, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, but mindful of the uncertainty of life, do make this our last will and testament. We make the following bequests:

To Mr. Conroy — we leave all our gratitude for his untiring efforts in guiding us through our never-to-be-forgotten years at Pittsfield High.

To Mr. Strout — we leave a permanent and well-earned position on the school ski team.

To Mr. Leahy — we leave another skier of the high calibre of Bill Eckerson.

To Miss Kaliher — we leave the million dollars she's been longing for, plus a fervent hope that her benevolent autocracy may outlive those of her fellow dictators.

To Mr. Joyce — we leave a group of radio actors comparable to the outstanding Thespians of the class of 1940.

To Mr. Carmody — we leave a hockey team that will be ever willing to co-operate in shoveling the rink.

To Miss Daly — we leave a senior Spanish class whose interest is other than the writing of letters to alluring señores and señoritas in foreign lands.

To Mr. Herrick — we leave a set of girl cheerleaders to inspire our teams to victory.

To Mr. Stewart — we leave the hope for a successful athletic season of 1940-1941.

To Miss Murphy — we leave a set of literature books equipped with maps for the enlightenment of her pupils as to the whereabouts of the action of the stories.

To Mr. Lynch — we leave a carload of meter sticks with which to reprimand his recalcitrant pupils.

To Mr. Maloney — we leave higher wages for all the teachers.

To Miss Hodges — we leave a presentation of "Hamlet" in the high school so that her senior students may appreciate the intrinsic value of Mr. Shakespeare's work as much as she does.

To Mr. Geary — we leave our heart felt appreciation for the important part he played in the success of "The Mikado."

To Mr. Hennessy — we leave an adequate supply of little frogs so that each member of his classes may have the unbounded pleasure of dissecting the little things.

To Miss Musgrove — we leave some senior girls who will go to their lockers on the correct bell.

To Mr. Gorman — we leave a medal of honor for "The Mikado."

To Mr. Herberg — we leave a class which will not secure answers to problems by means of telepathy.

To Mr. Hayes — we leave a new set of bookkeeping books which will present the details of that subject as he wants them presented.

To Miss Pfeiffer — we leave our sincerest appreciation for her invaluable guidance in "The Pen" and the Year Book.

To Miss Madden — we leave a cafeteria equipped with robots who can slice sandwiches, peel oranges, season hamburgers, and what not for the lazy patrons of the cafeteria.

To Miss Nagle — we leave a horse equipped with the very best of shock absorbers.

To Miss Ward and Miss McLaughlin — we leave a thoroughly obedient group of girls who will present a flawless gym exhibition without greying the hair of any of their teachers.

To Mr. Innis — we leave a supply of notebooks for his classes, who will obediently take notes on all he says.

To the Junior Class — we leave the record of two previous class operettas, "Pinafore" by the class of 1939 and "The Mikado" by our class, that they may equal the success of these productions.

To Miss Morris — we leave a class comprised entirely of ladies and gentlemen.

To Mr. Murray — we leave some cages in which to isolate the popular traffic officers.

To Miss Parker — we leave girls whose conduct will be such that they will not be habitually frequenting her office.

To Mr. Carey — we leave the hope that his very satisfactory golf game will improve with the years.

To Mr. McKenna — we leave a pennant for the Red Sox.

To Miss Prediger — we leave a studious, serious-minded history class that will be ever eager for new knowledge.

To the rest of the faculty — we leave sincere thanks for their efforts in imparting to us their very useful teachings.

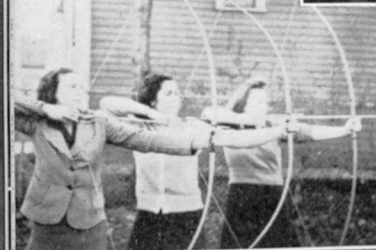

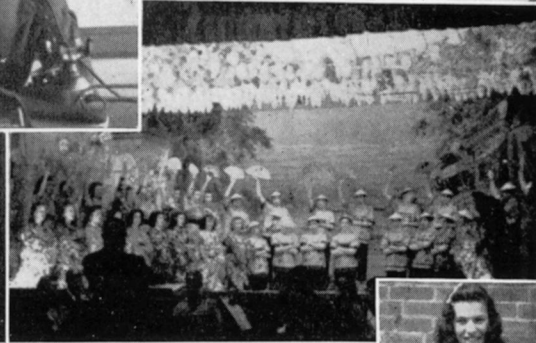

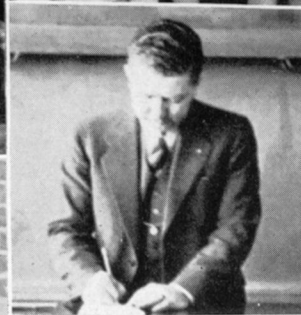

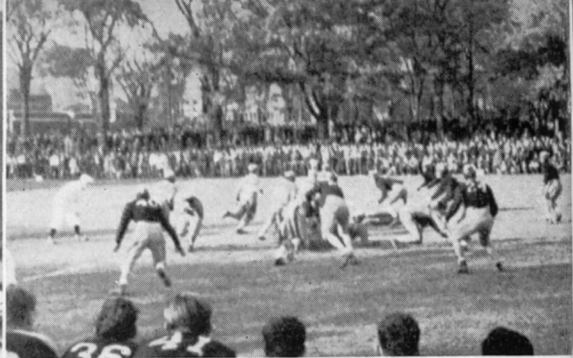

In testimony whereof, we, the Senior Class, affix our name to this document this eleventh day of June, A.D., 1940, in the presence of these three witnesses:

April 1, 1939—"Up a ladder, down a tree, you're a bigger fool than me."

May 20, 1939—Junior Prom! The rattles, blocks, and Mother Goose rhymes make everyone feel right at home.

June 1, 1939—One more month and if we're good, we can call ourselves seniors.

June 5, 1939—Seniors to be or not to be, the weather is still good for skipping.

June 23, 1939—Vacation at last! Kinda miss the gang in study hall but guess we can stand a rest.

Sept. 9, 1939—"School days, school days, good old broken-rule days."

Sept. 15, 1939—We all look over the new sophs. Not a bad looking bunch — all they need is a senior companion.

Oct. 8, 1939—First ring order (are we optimistic?)

Oct. 16, 1939—Great cause for celebrating in 206 today! Someone actually matched one of Miss Kaliher's matching tests.

November 9, 1939—P.H.S. displays the best looking band of the nation at a local gridiron battle today.

Nov. 21, 1939—Thanksgiving (Preview).

Nov. 26, 1939—Thanksgiving (Main Feature).

Dec. 24, 1939—Many P.H.S. students exercise their vocal cords at the Community Sing.

Jan. 10, 1940—With test after test, the Seniors have finally come to this conclusion:

WHY STUDY?

The more you study
The more you know;
The more you know
The more you can forget;
The more you can forget
The more you do forget;
The more you do forget
The less you know.

SO WHY STUDY?

Feb. 2, 1940—Mr. Gorman presents "The Mikado." We all know where everybody was at 8:15 P.M. The question is:—Where were they four hours later???

Feb. 20, 1940—"Gone With the Wind" is at the Capitol — and so are most of our fellow students!

March 10, 1940—Bells on their fingers, bells on their toes, P.H.S. girls give us music wherever they go.

March 22, 1940—Easter is here.—We hang up our winter flannels; we put on our spring clothes; we'll soon be back at high school, each with a cold in his nose! ! (Anything which seems to rhyme in this calendar is purely coincidental.)

April 10, 1940—Most of the senior math classes experienced exams today. Wow!

April 25, 1940—Big radio broadcast today. P.H.S. supports good cause—Children's Crusade. Two hundred and eleven dollars gathered for the cause.

May 1, 1940—Calendar staff gets worried about space fillers.

May 22, 1940—Calendar staff buys four "College Humors", two "Esquires", three "New Yorkers", and sends a bribe to copyright office.

June 1, 1940—Fifteen more days and W.P.A. will take over!

Machine Shop

THREE years ago there was instituted in Pittsfield High School a new department among those commonly a part of its curricula. Because there were numerous opportunities in Pittsfield's industries for skilled and semi-skilled mechanics and because there had hitherto been no such course available in this city, a Machine Shop course was established in this school. It was realized through the efforts of our vice-principal, Mr. John Moran, and through the generous cooperation of the local industries.

This year marks the graduation of the first class to have completed this course. The boys in the class may be justly proud of their achievements. They have set a precedent that will, no doubt, result in the competent filling of many positions in local industry by workers well-versed in the knowledge of machinery. Also, they have behind them a well-rounded education in science, mathematics, and drawing, all relative to their work, and a competent knowledge of English, hygiene, and safety instruction. They are prepared to step into vacancies and begin to earn a respectable living.

Those of us who have taken the more familiar courses, and who have been inclined to grumble over our home work might be interested to learn that the Machine Shop course requires even more hours of studious effort. This department requires a seven-hour working day, half of the boys' time being spent in the class room studying the subjects above mentioned and the other half in the shop in actual practice with the machines with which they work after graduation.

The writer was much surprised to learn of the completeness of the equipment used in this department. The machinery is operated under the instruction and supervision of Mr. Edward McLaughlin. The mathematics and drawing courses are under the capable guidance of Mr. William Monks. In addition to these activities many boys participate in various school sports and serve on several committees.

The results derived from this course are very encouraging. As this article is written, sixteen of the twenty-six boys graduating have received positions in Pittsfield, earning an average wage of fifty cents an hour. Their work is regarded as completely satisfactory by their employers. It is easily seen that the Machine Department and the opportunities offered by it present themselves as decided assets to the community, benefiting not only those taking the course but those industrialists to whom the boys will come as prospective employees.

The Mikado

ON THE eventful nights of February first and second, the curtain rose upon our class presentation of that immortal Gilbert and Sullivan production, "The Mikado." A great hush fell over the audience; the overhead lights were dimmed; and the orchestra pit assumed an eerie glow as small lights flickered on here and there. Now the silhouette of the conductor drew applause as "The Mikado" was about to make its premier appearance. Behind the scenes, silk-clad orientals, rustling softly back and forth and whispering in subdued tones, were almost strangled by an overpowering sense of nervousness. But after the curtain went up and the familiar music began, each actor felt relieved; the preceding months of rehearsal imparted a sense of confidence to everyone, and Mr. Gorman's white hands, although somewhat blurred and indistinct through the glare of the footlights, signalled every note from the blackness of the pit and inspired everyone with an assurance that nothing could go wrong. Then it was with joy that everyone sang and danced, putting every ounce of concentration and effort into his part.

Cynthia Scribner as Yum Yum and Bruce Miller as Nanki-Poo delightfully supplied the romantic interest, while Pam Walker and Don Lucier as Katisha and Ko-Ko, both with a sense of humor almost equal to that of Gilbert himself, kept everyone in gales of laughter. Gordon Almstead presented the wily Pish-Tush to perfection, and Bob Finnegan made a marvelous Pooh-Bah — so very, very haughty was he. As Pitti-Sing and Peep-Bo, Gerry Seagrave and Ruth Jansen were two of the most adorable little maids ever, and as for the Mikado, Basil Jones was every inch an emperor. Both of the choruses were excellent in their supporting work, and the orchestra was superb.

Despite the painstaking work on the part of Mr. Gorman rehearsing the cast and orchestra, and Virginia Amerio's untiring efforts as accompanist, the opera would not have been nearly the success it was had it not been for the hard working committees:—William Pierson, General Chairman, who ably directed his capable chairmen; Ben Monk, whose committee handled the publicity; Milton Bass, whose group sold the tickets; Ruth Bassett and Roger Shelton, who directed the Program Committee; Silvio Conti, whose committee assisted behind scenes during the performance; and Fred Sillars and Helen Hctor, who headed the indispensable doormen and ushers. And then there were our artists, who submitted striking paintings and drawings, and the many members of the faculty who helped make the production a success.

There is always a great deal of satisfaction in accomplishing a difficult task well, and Mr. Gorman and all those who took part in the presentation may indeed feel proud of themselves. It was an experience which will live forever in the memories of us all and create a warm feeling in our hearts for P.H.S. in the years to come.

Football

THE 1939 football season dawned with high hopes in the minds of both the students and the team. This enthusiasm was heightened by the fact that the team was outfitted in new uniforms and was to play its home games on the new Dorothy Deming Field, with its splendid playing surface and extensive seating capacity.

We opened a strenuous schedule against a superior Greenfield eleven, and our inexperienced forces suffered a 20-0 setback. At Springfield the Tech Tigers avenged the defeat that they had experienced here last year, turning back our boys by the score of 14-7. Returning to the home field, Pittsfield played host to a smooth-functioning Agawam aggregation. Due largely to the power of their back, Pisano, Agawam rolled up 20 points to our 6. Adams High then came to Pittsfield, and despite a sixty-three yard touchdown jaunt made from a kick formation by Grady, the North Berkshire team was victorious by a 7-6 margin. The Purple next invaded Noel Field in North Adams, where it held Drury to a scoreless deadlock. In the following game, before Albany Academy could ring up their fourteen points, Simeno caught a pass and ran some distance for our only score. On the Saturday following Armistice Day instead of on the traditional Thanksgiving Day, we clashed with St. Joseph's High. A huge crowd witnessed the defeat of the favored Saints at the hands of our determined eleven. Our aerial attack clicked, with Mitchell scoring twice on passes from Grady. The final score stood at 14-7.

P.H.S. had completed an unusually poor season. Nevertheless, we must remember the sportsmanship and continued effort on the part of our boys. John Grady, our triple-threat quarter-back, and Twining, Captain Roche, and Mitchell deserve much praise for their fine work.

BASKETBALL TEAM

First Row: Varney, Rosanski, LiMardi, Hopkins, Masterson, Flossic.

Second Row: Mele, Quirk, McGill, Moynihan (capt.), Heidel, Grady, Francis.

Basketball

THE 1939-1940 basketball season was opened auspiciously by a 48-33 victory over Lee. Next, Adams fell before our boys, losing a hard-fought battle by a 29-21 score. After defeating Lenox 41-29, the Purple, led by a barrage of baskets from our two lanky forwards, McGill and Moynihan, overwhelmed Dalton 45-19. Williamstown proved more difficult, but succumbed finally 37-32. The Stewartmen continued to win, beating St. Joseph's of North Adams 31-27 and Bennington 31-25. However, our winning streak was broken in the first game of the City Series when St. Joe won 25-16. Then, a smooth Drury quintet nosed out our team 32-29. After losing an exhibition game with Searles 27-21, we suffered a defeat at the hands of two spirited North Berkshire teams, St. Joseph's of North Adams setting us back 26-21, and Williamstown trouncing us 30-28 in a thrilling overtime game. Next on the slate was Drury. The Tunnel City boys stopped our quintet again, this time 46-29. The defeat suffered by Bennington at our hands earlier in the season was avenged as the Vermonters romped to a 45-31 victory. Following a 27-20 loss to Adams, Pittsfield regained the win column when they overcame Dalton 45-31. Our underdog but determined team again met St. Joe., the undefeated leaders of the North Berkshire league, and as a result of a grand display of team work, highlighted by a brilliant exhibition by Joe McGill, they emerged victorious with a slim margin of 30-29. In the third and deciding game of the series, however, St. Joe came back strongly to win the city title 23-15.

So ended an entertaining, if not spectacular, season. The team was made up of the two consistently high-scoring forwards, Joe McGill and Captain Frank Moynihan; the dependable guards Johnny Grady and Gene Quirk; and center, Carl Heidel.

THE HOCKEY TEAM

First Row: Filpi, Carmody, Rosenthal, King, Lathrop, Rice, Kozack, Grover, Smith.

Second Row: Icardi, Olinto, Kellar, Nicholls, Coach Carmody, Roach, Gabree, Stillman, Carty.

Hockey

AFTER only two days of practice the Pittsfield hockey squad journeyed to Springfield, where they were trounced 15-1 by an experienced Cathedral sextet led by the versatile Angelo Bertelli. Some much needed practice before the second game, however, enabled the team to blank the Albany Academy Jayvees 3-0. Holyoke then stopped us 2-1. After beating Philip Schuyler High School of Albany 4-1, the squad turned in another victory over the Albany Academy Jayvees by the same score as the first game, 3-0. We next dropped a 4-3 overtime game to Darrow. Berkshire Industrial School proved an easy victim succumbing 6-0. In the following game, Holyoke repeated their earlier win by holding us scoreless while they pushed over three goals. The final game of the season took the form of a victory over LaSalle 2-1.

The consistently fine work of Roche, Olinto, Kellar, and Smith, to name a few, was a big factor in increasing the popularity of hockey among the other sports in Pittsfield High School.

Ski Club

MUCH interest has been shown among students in the increasingly popular sport of skiing. For the second consecutive year a large ski club was organized under guidance of Mr. John Leahy. From this club a team was chosen to represent the school in inter-scholastic contests. Captained by William Eckerson, the team included Robert Johnson, Wesley Ashley, Richard Pomeroy, and Albert Polito, president of the club.

The first meet, in which several schools participated, was held at the Pittsfield State Forest. The Pittsfield "A" team emerged with top honors. The outstanding performer was Captain Eckerson, who carried off individual laurels. As a result of this victory the school was presented a plaque by the Greylock Ski Club. The weather permitted only two more meets, which were taken by Adams High and Berkshire School.

Besides participating in these three competitive meets, the entire club spent many enjoyable hours on the well covered slopes and trails of Berkshire County.

THE TEAM

Baseball

With a squad composed of several veterans and some likely new material, it is certain that this year's baseball nine will be highly successful. Out of approximately eighty candidates a competent team has been chosen to represent Pittsfield High on the diamond.

Catcher Earl Turner, a promising junior, will be on the receiving end of Carl Heidel and Captain Simeno's expert pitches. Dick Andrew will be on first, Buddy Francis on second, Joe McGill at short-stop, and Gene Quirk on third. The outfielders will be Procopio in right field, Surowiec in center, and Caliento in left. The list is augmented by several capable substitutes.

The Schedule:

May 4—Williams College Freshmen
May 8—Cranwell
May 11—At Drury
May 18—At Adams
May 22—At Bennington
May 24—Dalton

May 30—St. Joseph
June 1—At Dalton
June 5—Drury
June 10—Adams
June 12—Bennington
June 15—At St. Joseph

1940's Stars

Included in the ranks of the 1940 class of Pittsfield High School are a number of excellent athletes whose accomplishments deserve to be commended.

John Grady—Our Varsity quarterback distinguished himself in track and basketball as well as in football.

Almon Roche—This year's versatile football captain also participated in baseball and hockey.

John Simeno—John captained our baseball team and played football.

William Eckerson—Bill was an excellent ski team captain.

Eugene Quirk—He played baseball and was a guard on the basketball squad.

Joseph McGill—Joe was equally capable in baseball and basketball.

Sylvio Conti—This fleet runner captained the track team.

Edward Kellar—Hockey and football were the two sports played by Ed.

Frank Moynihan—Frank was basketball captain and the team's high scorer.

John Bence—Johnny played on the football team and was active in the gym.

George Mitchell—This track man used his speed equally well in football.

Russell Twining—He was a dependable guard on our football squad.

Albert Polito—Al was president of the ski club.

John Massimiano—The kicking done by this center was a big asset to the football team.

Joseph Mele—Joe did fine work in football and basketball.

Track

As this is written the prospects for the track season appear bright. Several of last year's men answered Coach Carmody's call for candidates along with a large group of promising newcomers. The only source of difficulty lies in the fact that Captain Sylvio Conti will probably be out for part of the season because of a knee ailment.

The team should prove strong with the experienced Raymond Sawyer running the mile and Bill Pierson on the half-mile. The 440, usually run by Conti, will be taken care of by Dick Sabin. Everett Gleason and Frank Limardi are good material for the 220 and 100 yard dashes. The broadjump will have likely candidates in Edward Germanowski, Sam Arena, and Leland Grady. Grady and William MacHaffie will also be out as high jumpers. Everett Tatro is a promising man for the pole-vault. The weight-men will probably be Richard LaBarbera, Edward Haddad, Anthony Calabrese, and Ed Germanowski.

Girls' Sports

THREE YEARS have passed since our first experience with hockey sticks, baseballs, and baseball bats. As timid sophomores we were slammed and battered about the field, but we did manage to come through and win the baseball tournament in our first year of sports.

As juniors we offered more competition. We snatched the hockey tournament away from the seniors. To make our junior year still better, we won the basketball and baseball tournaments also.

As seniors we have taken every tournament on the record, including hockey, basketball, volleyball, bowling, and swimming. Jenny Karpeck was winner of the archery contest, with Mabel Valenti and Kathleen Green finishing second and third respectively. As we go to press, the baseball championship has yet to be decided.

In all the years of girls' intramural sports competition in Pittsfield High School, no other class has received so many monograms as the Class of 1940. At the close of the ninth annual physical training demonstration of the girls' athletic department, the following girls received one monogram: Mary Maruk, Grace Houston, Wanda Naprava, Dorothy Yarmey, and Alta Miller. Lillian Blair and Margaret Ward received two monograms, and it is our proud boast that one of our number earned three monograms. Jenny Karpeck is the first girl to attain such an honor in the nine years of intra-mural sports at Pittsfield High. We take our hats off to you, Jenny Karpeck, and to all the girls who have helped to make our class outstanding in the realm of sports.

The America of the Future

Whenever some cynical observer of the passing scene tells me that America is going to the dogs and that the future is bleak indeed, all I need do to disprove his pessimistic view is to look at such scenes as are being enacted all over the Country right now. What I refer to, as you have guessed, is the graduation of thousands of students from our Country's High Schools and Colleges. Just as long as American young people consider an education essential, just so long will America be a Country with a future. You young people who are now graduating constitute one of our Country's greatest assets.

In a few years, you will have grown to manhood and womanhood. Yours will then be the responsibility which is now ours — who can doubt that you will handle it as creditably as our generation? With the advantages you enjoy, you are indeed fortunate. You have opportunities that were denied us. You went to better schools. Your instruction was more competent. And the world you are entering holds more promise than the one into which your parents and grandparents were ushered, upon finishing school. Part of this promise lies in the contributions of the electrical industry. You have electric light, heat and power as well as the telephone. The radio brings you marvelous entertainment and the news is broadcast from all parts of the world almost the moment something of importance happens. Some of your instruction was furnished by motion pictures and they certainly form a large part of your entertainment. When you graduates start in to work some of you will enter the utility industry which has contributed so much to better living and which it is my honor to represent.

Great changes have come to this industry in the past two decades; far greater changes lie ahead. In the hands and brains of some of you young people rests the future of this industry and of every other industry and profession. Indeed, its entire future and that of every other human institution rests upon the genius of today's youth. You are important citizens, you graduates! So long as we have YOU America will be safe — and great.
